Session revocation

When a server revokes a session, online access stops immediately.

Offline cached access cannot verify server revocation until reconnection.

Reconnection must check revocation before allowing synchronized writes.